"HORSES" TO WIN

It is my privilege today to tell you all about a great favorite of mine — North Side United.

I should have done it a few weeks ago, but, being careful, thought I'd wait a little longer before passing judgement.

STYLES

WONG

VARGLIEN

Midway through the season I decided to have a look at the lower teams.

I was certain they would play, like they had never done before, to stave off relegation, and I knew that, matches, in which they took part would be quite exciting.

I liked them all, but none better, than North Side.

They did a lot to help themselves, which now is history.

Then they settled down to snatching points from the leading teams.

Here's the tally of their last seven matches: Sydney Austral (1 point), Gladesville (1), Auburn (1), Concord (2), Canterbury (2) and Corrimal (1).

Not bad for young fellows, some under 18 years, some little over.

The team now has two good 'keepers in Waller and M. Varglien, an excellent, defensive centre half, Ken Stiles (from Bankstown); a fairly safe defence with a slight weakness, through injuries, on the left flank and a forward line in Taber (in lieu of injured Butcovich), Haschke, A. Varglien, Wong and Delzio at least equal to any of the leading teams.

The team, as it plays now, should be considered one of the six leading teams in the competition.

All is not perfect yet, of course.

But nothing that an off-season's training concentrated on individual ball control and the finer points of positional play won't fix.

MASTERPIECE

North Side has one of the best committees in the game.

Their move in signing the cream of the EPT players was a masterpiece of enterprise.

They have a broadminded far-reaching policy for the future which will surprise everybody when it is announced.

YOUNG GENTLEMEN

The team plays a hard, but clean game, trying for the full 90 minutes.

Their spirit is excellent, their comradeship beyond doubt.

Their mutual courtesy and respect for one another, particularly when things are grim, when passes are not reaching their destinations, when shots are wide of the mark, is a pleasing sign in this up-and-coming team.

I am certain they'll do well from now on.

In fact, I am so optimistic, that I had a couple of side-bets on the outcome of their coming matches against Hakoah and Budapest.

DON'T LET ME DOWN

I realise I shouldn't take sides and — really — I dont't.

It all started from a simple human feeling for the "underdog".

The "underdogs" since proved themselves, but I still can't help leaning a little towards them.

So, there you have it, North Side boys!

The write-up you've been long waiting for and fully deserved.

All you have to do now is — live up to it.

Remember — my reputation is at stake.

Not forgetting all the lottery tickets I might have to buy...

CREATING GOODWILL

After retailing petrol a few weeks back my chain-smoking typewriter is keen on cigarettes.

As you already know another world-wide organisation has joined our forces by donating £1000 for a Cup competition.

It is the WD & HO Wills tobacco company.

Their public relations officer, Mr Mervyn Fenn like his Ampol counterpart Mr Southwell-Keely, believes in supporting sporting organisations whose aim is to spread and improve the game, create goodwill and understanding between New and Old Australians and — indirectly — help to absorb migrants into Australian community.

The Federation is one of those organisations and Mr Fenn's choice could not have been more appropriate, nor better timed.

Time for a Capstan...

CALL FOR INQUIRY

What goes on now in George Street?

The Soccer Club in George Street needs investigating if reports coming to hand are true.

It is our belief that the club's existence is dependent upon it fulfilling the "aims and objects' for which it was formed — that is to assist and develop soccer football.

Firstly, all the clubs who formed this club are now in the Federation, yet all are denied a say in the club's policy.

The club was or is owned by the New South Soccer Association which is not recognised by nor affiliated, with the Australian Soccer Football Association.

The NSW FA went out of existence when the Federation was given affiliation at the last ASFA Council meeting in Queensland.

We are given to understand that despite its "illegality" the NSW Soccer Association is still functioning, running a minor competition with a prize of £250 for the ultimate winner.

In view of this, and the fact that the Federation is the only recognised body with authority to run and control soccer in this State, we consider the Australian SFA should take action.

Since the George Street club has as its aims and objects to assist and develop soccer we are alarmed at its recent action towards the juniors in this State.

In the past the Club has provided certain trophies for the juniors.

Recently the NSW Junior Association made application to the Club for trophies for this year's competition.

The Juniors were told — "to write to the NSW SFA" (the unaffiliated body), which they did.

Above the name of a Mr F. Chidgey the NSW SFA Association replied that it could not give assistance to the juniors as they were "not affiliated to it".

We ask — why should they be affiliated with an organisation that is not recognised by the Australian SFA?

What then does the George Street Club do with its money?

We consider the Licensing Court should investigate this Club and a statement made as to whether the aims and objects for which the club was formed, and for which it subsequently received a licence, are still being maintained.

All teams now given equal opportunities

What's this "brew" being cooked up about promotion and relegation?

Why do you think the NSW FA lost control of soccer in this State?

Have we forgotten how North Shore, Auburn, Bankstown, Cumberland, Sydney Austral Hakoah struggled hard for promotion, only to be denied it by narrow-minded administrators at the time.

Most of those teams eventually went on to prove their claim to first grade status, although rejected in their year of victory.

It was a bitter struggle, fighting for conditions that supplanted apathy with enterprise.

No exceptions

Whatever is now in the minds of some people, may we draw to attention the fact that Manchester United lost nearly a whole team in an air crash and had they finished at the foot of the table they would have had no alternative, but to play Second Division soccer.

Another case was Sunderland, which had been the only English team never relegated.

They finished last two seasons ago and all the sentiment in the world could not save them. Down they went!

A more vigorous set of directors took over and Sunderland will soon be back with all their past power and glory, refreshed after a season or so of reorganisation and team building.

There are more than two million people in Sydney and if Toongabbie could become another Manchester United and had the environment to stage first grade soccer, true soccer lovers would travel from Cooma, Campsie or Coogee if their standard was equal to that of Manchester.

EUROPEAN CUP DRAW

Here is the draw for the first round of the 1960 European Cup.

Nice (France) v Shamrock Rovers (Eire)

Glasgow Rangers v Anderlecht (Belgium)

Vorwaerts Berlin (East Germany) v Wolverhampton

Eintracht Frankfurt (West Germany) v Kuopion (Finland)

Lindfield (Ulster) v Bothenburg (Sweden)

Esch (Luxemburg) v Bytom or Lodz (Poland)

CDNA Sofia (Bulgaria) v FC Barcelona (Spain)

Wiener Sport Klub (Austria) v Petrolul Ploesti (Rumania)

Red Star Bratislava (Czechoslovakia) v Porto (Portugal)

Fenerbahce (Turkey) v Csepel (Hungary

Olympiakos (Greece) v Milan (Italy)

Byes: Real Madrid, Sparta Rotterdam (Holland), Boldklub (Denmark), Young Boys Berne (Switzerland), Red Star Belgrade (Yugoslavia).

Popularity growing

The relative popularity of Rugby League and Soccer in Sydney is becoming an interesting study.

Last Saturday two very popular and entertaining Rugby League teams met in a semifinal tie in Sydney's top sporting arena — the Sydney Cricket Ground.

The ground has covered enclosures for almost 25,000 people.

The daily Press wrote up pages of propaganda and "yahoo" about this game for days prior to the match.

The weather for the match was, to put it plainly, "lousy", but despite all the amenities available to League supporters for this "ideal" semifinal draw, only 8000 odd fans turned up.

Looking back to last season for the soccer final Canterbury v Auburn at the Sports Ground, we recall that the weather was the worst ever encountered in the history of soccer, yet 8000 odd turned up to see what was a not too "popular" final.

This season 11,000 people saw the Ampol final on a night that had been preceded by hours of incessant rain.

RETENTION OF FOURTEEN TEAM LEAGUE URGED

A move is apparently afoot to try to change the Federation promotion and relegation method.

The gist of this change would be, so reports say, instead of the planned three teams only one would be relegated and one promoted.

The new plan is quite sensible even if the motive for its introduction is suspect.

But one can't help wondering whether even talk would be allowed on such a dangerous subject were it not three Australian teams — North Side, Balgownie and Bankstown — concerned.

However, in all fairness to these clubs it must be admitted that the idea of the Federation 1st Division having 14 teams is not new and was born long before the competition table took its present shape.

The main argument in favor of the 14-team league is that the more teams, the more matches, the bigger revenue and, subsequently, the better soccer.

If 1st Division were reduced to 10 teams, as some Federation officials apparently would desire, the competition would resemble more of a suburban youth or church leagues than proper soccer.

Fans, irrespective of their ardent devotion to their clubs, would get thoroughly sick and tired of watcing the same few teams week after week.

The argument against the scheme centres around the lack of time and grounds.

However, this cannot be taken too seriously; if the competition can be run with 14 teams in 1959, it can surely be run again in 1960 or 1984.

Should bad weather interfere with the smooth-running of the programme, a few double-headers or Sunday matches could be the solution.

Another often heard outcry against the 14-team league is that some clubs are "not up to the standard" and the filling up of 1st Division with weaker teams leads to decrease in interest and gates.

Concord, a bad last on the the table, seem to be the only club outclassed in 1st Division, but even they snatched a point from highly rated Corrimal (at Corrimal) and both points from last year's champions, Canterbury.

The others near the bottom of the table are neither outclassed nor humiliated in 1st Division.

Bankstown so far has 8 points, Balgownie has downed Hakoah in Sydney, Budapest has beaten Auburn, at Auburn, and North Side defeated Canterbury and Gladesville on their own grounds.

Surely "badly outclassed" teams would be incapable of such feats.

Lesser evil

And, anyway, it looks absurd to speak about being "outclassed" when the "glamorous" Auburn is only 2 points ahead of North Side, considered to be in the danger zone!

It is seldom desirable to change promotion and relegation methods midway through the season.

However, it would be the lesser of two evils and a much smaller catastrophe than dropping three out of 1st Division, all three of whom are superior to any team that may emerge as the winner of 2nd Division.

This is the 11th hour for the Federation Council to act promptly and wisely.

If they regard progress of soccer and all clubs as the most important thing to be taken into account, they cannot but admit their mistake and decide to keep the 14-team competition for next season.

Andrew Scott,
Lidcombe.

PLAY-OFF TO GAIN PROMOTION

Regarding Bankstown's possible relegation to Second Division, I think it would be a tragedy to lose this club.

In the first year of the Federation, Bankstown, along with Canterbury and Auburn, was the top team — and now face relegation.

To put three teams down this year would be the biggest blunder the Federation could make.

Officials of both Concordia and Neerlandia have readily admitted that their clubs are not good enough for First Division.

If one of these clubs was brought up, it would be another Villawood affair, which would certainly mean at least falling gates.

I am a follower of North Side and can appreciate Bankstown's and Balgownie's positions.

I feel sure that either of these clubs would clean-up any Second Division team.

I favor one team — at this stage Concord — at the bottom playing off for the right to enter First Division, with the team vying for promotion — at this stage Concordia.

I feel sure that Concord would have no difficulty keeping its place in First Division.

TEAM of the WEEK

Every week an A and B team is selected from the best players in First Division teams.

The best A team player is nominated as the "Player of the Week" and scores three points.

All other A team nominations receive two points and B team players one point.

The player with the highest number of points at the end of the season will automatically become Player of the Year.

Ampol Cup fixtures, Federation Cup matches and the competition semi-finals, final and grand-final are not taken into account.

Here are the players who stood out in last weekend's two rounds of matches.

Player of the Week

K. SPIEGEL

(HAKOAH)

Hakoah's flying goalie played his best match ever in Australia against APIA last Sunday and gave a superb display of angling and anticipation.

He was beyond reproach and his tremendous agility boosted his team-mates morale.

Time and again this brilliant goalie smothered his opponent's shots by either diving recklessly to their very feet, or deflecting some terrific short range kicks.

This weekend's games preview

By L. Gautier

AUBURN v PRAGUE

A very good afternoon of soccer can be expected when these two teams meet at Mona Park on Saturday and this suburban ground should record its biggest crowd of the season.

Prague will be introducing Herbert Ninaus to soccer fans and this player alone should make the trip worthwhile, as he is definitely the greatest "name-player" ever to come to Australia.

The already "invincible" Prague will be immensely strengthened by his inclusion at outside left.

This will allow hard-working Les Scheinflug to return to his normal half back position.

Prague had a bye owing to bad weather last week and Auburn were lucky to force a draw down the Coast with Balgownie as their only goal was a "gift" one.

I expect PRAGUE to win convincingly, but Auburn still have lot of fight left in them.

If Auburn's forward line is in top gear the Prague defence will have a gruelling time coping with Quested, Hall and Morrow, who have lost no sting, though the rest of the team, with the exception of Dayney, is well below standard.

Auburn's full backs will find it beyond them to subdue the mercurial Austrians, but if the home team's forwards can make a welcome comeback then I expect the match to reach great heights with attacking football all the way.

APIA v BANKSTOWN

Bankstown are now beyond salvation and having nothing to lose could worry APIA at Lambert Park and go down only as narrowly as in the first round match.

The Towns had many chances last Saturday, but let their opponents dictate play in the last half-hour.

They could not match Austral's wet-weather tactics.

Their task will be formidable this week as it seems that only a full strength Prague could beat the sensational APIA team at present.

APIA gave another bright display last Sunday and, though Hakoah equalised after being down two goals, never looked like losing.

The defence was outstanding but Joe Vasvary and Albert de Paoli won the game for them as they were a constant worry to the Hakoah defence.

APIA, playing with confidence and high morale, will be hard to topple, even more so at home where they enjoy Sydney's largest and most encouraging support.

It seems that Bankstown have little hope of upsetting APIA's apple-cart this weekend, but as long as the ball is round anything can happen.

If Barry Wainwright is in top-shape he could spearhead the Town to a surprise result but, as I said above, it is hard to see APIA even drop a point at Lambert Park.

CANTERBURY v BUDAPEST

Both teams are playing on their shared home ground at Arlington Oval and this match should provide some good fast football.

The match has a double-barrelled interest which should make it a thrilling affair, with speed and excitement galore.

Canterbury, following their last-minute win over Granville, are now well on the way to the semifinals (providing they win their deferred game against Gladesville as I mentioned above), and in the image of Bruce Young and John Watkiss are competely revived.

The forwards found the touch that has been so lacking this season last Saturday and, if they reprodce that form today, Budapest will face an impossible task and lose as overwhelmingly as in the first-round match.

Budapest, very uneasy in the shocking conditions last week, could well find itself in a tragic position after this round if they lose on Saturday.

It can be expected that Balgownie will beat Concord and leap ahead of Budapest on goal averages.

This unhappy thought should, and will I am sure, spur the whole team to greater things.

I think that you can discount last week's draw.

Schauman is playing beautiful football and if the ground is hard and dry Galambos will provide Curry with a lot of problems.

Csardas has at last found stability since his transfer from Hakoah and is settling down to the brand of soccer we know he can play.

He is a definite asset to Budapest because he balances the once erratic defence.

The defence was unimpressive and will have to be much steadier if they are to resist the hard-hitting and prolific scoring Granville forwards led by their new star Barry Rae.

Rae is very ably assisted by veteran Joe Kendall and reliable inside men Flynn and Smith.

Granville deserved a draw last Saturday and I feel that this last-minute defeat will have demoralised them a lot.

This is the only thing in Corrimal's favor, plus, of course, the fact that the Miners always play above themselves at home.

But for these reasons I am tipping CORRIMAL to win.

However anything could happen as the home team has had four consecutive matches without a win, which is extraordinay indeed for last year's minor premiers.

HAKOAH v NTH. SIDE U.

I will repeat my first round forecast which favored North Side United to win, though Hakoah really proved me wrong by trouncing the North Siders to the tune of 5—0.

Since then things have become quite different with North Side undefeated for seven weeks, holding some of the State's top teams to a draw or beating them.

North Side played extremely good football to draw with Corrimal at Lambert Park last Saturday.

The wet weather certainly did not favor their style of football, on a dry ground the home side would have won both points.

The whole team played as a well-oiled unit, with Wong outstanding.

The Malayan star is back to top form now that his exam worries are over and with the brilliant support he is getting from all the other forwards this North Side attack is, today, one of the most efficient and pleasing to watch in the competition.

The defence is still as smart as ever and this amazing team has no real weaknesses.

The fact that players af the calibre of Kohlmayer, Walker Zanetti, Zucatto and Mario Varglien are playing in the reserves speaks for itself as to the club's wealth of talent.

The home team, Hakoah, will certainly be more at ease on the E. S. Marks playing area, but I doubt if they are consis-

Budapest dangerous

All said and done this will be a good match and though CANTERBURY are a logical choice to win this game, Budapest must be conceded a fair chance as it has potential match-winners in its ranks.

CONCORD v BALGOWNIE

The home team will be anxious to prove that last week's draw was no flash in the pan and their clash with Balgownie will be a hard fought affair with very little in it.

I favor BALGOWNIE to win, which could well lift them out of the last three.

Balgownie should have won both points last Sunday.

Robinson's grave error could have far-reaching repercussions, but he fully redeemed himself throughout the match, as he played a great game with Grant and McKinnon.

The forwards always tried hard and McWatters and Ryan, before his ill-timed injury, foraged continually though with little success.

If Balgownie had a top-flight centre forward the team would be free of any relegation worries.

Saturday's match will prove yet another opportunity for Bruce McFarlane to show his great class.

Future star

This brilliant half would gain representative honors in a higher-placed team as he has all the ingredients of a future star.

Coach-player Ted Hillyard and full back Beckett shone with goalie Hourigan last weekend.

Generally the team deserved its draw as it adapted itself very well to the greasy ball.

This match will be a battle of the defences and it looks like Balgownie repeating its first round win.

But Concord will be keen to get closer to their nearest opponents, Bankstown, and hand over the infamous "wooden spoon", so do not be unduly surprised if the locals force a draw again this week — or go even one better and win.

CORRIMAL v GRANVILLE

Corrimal was very lucky indeed to have played so consistently in the first half of the season as all points won then are proving tremendously handy now.

The side has really struck a bad patch and is playing its worst football for years.

Corrimal were given, at times, a soccer lesson last week, and though NSU only equalised in the last minute, the draw really favored the visitors, who played with purpose, but lacked finesse and good positional play.

Keith Learmonth and Tommy Rowles were tireless throughout and proved to be North Side's only real dangers.

Forwards inconsistent

When eagerly-awaited Egyptian Baptolucco fills the centre forward position the whole team should greatly benefit.

There is still too much inconsistency and temporisation in the forward line.

When this shortcoming is ironed out APIA will be very serious contenders for Prague's "Crown".

GLADESV. v SYD. AUSTRAL

This could be the week-end's closest game and picking the winner is very hard indeed.

But I will take GLADESVILLE to win, largely because they are playing at home on Sydney's most controversial playing area.

Sydney Austral has a good record on that much-discussed ground, but I feel the home team will take both points.

This match is vital to both teams who are strong semifinal contenders.

Following Hakoah's defeat last Sunday their chances appear to be much brighter.

Though there is little between the teams, I feel that in all departments Gladesville have a slight edge.

The defence, with Hough, McClelland, Pretswell and Pettigrew, is remarkable and the forwards have the edge on Austral thanks to Bill Hume.

Sydney Austral will be flat out to prove me wrong as they did last week when they beat Bankstown in the mud.

Volatile Gerry De Vries is certainly a master trump that could pay dividends, but I feel Sydney Austral forwards, with the possible exception of Draayer, are out of touch.

They will find it practically impossible to tear the strong Gladesville defence apart.

I think the home team's sterling back and half lines will once again win the day for the Villes, whose very important deferred match against Canterbury could prove the season's most decisive clash.

AROUND THE JUNIORS

It now seems likely that the Sydney and country finals of the State junior championships will be played on Saturday, August 22.

Two grounds will be required to complete these matches in the one day.

Illawarra prefers August 22, as their annual Gala Day is set down for August 15.

Rain caused the postponment of Canterbury's big gala event from last Saturday.

The State finals for all grades from Under 10 to Under 18 will be played on August 29.

These big junior events are deserving of even greater support than previous years.

SEMIFINALS TODAY

Games will be played on many suburban grounds today. Bankstown will play in all matches expect A grade and Under 10.

Sutherland appears in Under 10 and Under 14 grades.

With St. George appearing in A grade, Under 14, 12 and 10 grades, it seems quite possible that the huge potential of this great area is about to be released for soccer.

Two matches were played last Saturday.

In the muddiest of conditions Gladesville defeated Bankstown All-Age 8—1.

Gladesville completed the double by downing Manly-Warringah 6—1 in Under 18s.

The Manly lads deserve great praise, however, and were well in the picture until 15 minutes before full time.

The Seasiders have a number of brilliant youngsters, who have senior potential.

FIXTURES

NOMINATIONS CLOSING

Nominations of players for trials for the NSW teams to play Queensland Under 18 and Victoria Under 16 should be lodged with Mr W. Brackenbury immediately.

Selectors are W. Smith, S. Panner and W. Brackenbury.

KNOCK-OUT COMP.

The progressive Ku-ring-gai District Associations will be hold a Gala Day knock-out this Saturday.

Games will be played at Turramurra Oval, Karuah Oval, Bannockburn Oval and North Turramurra Oval.

Teams from Under 10 years to Under 16 years will be playing in these matches.

Starting times are: Bannockburn Oval 9.00, Karuah Oval 9.30, North Turramurra Ovol 9.00, Turramurra Oval 9.00.

At Turramurra Oval at 2 pm, all teams will take part in a march past, led by the Manly-Warringah Pipe Band.

The finals in all groups will be played after the march, and the winning teams will receive trophies and pennants presented by Lieut-General, Sir John Northcott.

A mobile canteen at Turramurra Oval will provide refreshments.

GRANVILLE SECRETARY RETURNS

Secretary Les. Spicer was welcomed back to Granville Juniors at the general meeting held at the School of Arts, Granville on July 22.

Mr Spiccer, who was granted leave of absence for business reasons two months ago, was welcomed by President George Faulder, who also thanked Mr Alan Forbes for acting as secretary in Mr Spicer's absence. Secretaries should note that all correspondence should now be addressed to Mr L. Spicer, 1 West St., Guildford.

'Playing to win' mars development of schoolboy football

By R. U. BULLAS

Football in some form or another is played throughout a boy's school life.

He graduates from the scramble game of his first year to play on a proper pitch, at something approaching the real game.

For him, at any rate, the game is one of enjoyment and disappointment, though both these emotions are, fortunately transient.

For his teachers, however, the game affords an excellent opportunity for the broadcasting of personal opinions of the game, the chance to re-live ones football life, this time with added tactical knowledge and skill.

Above all,scholboy matches give every scope to the teaching staff concerned for discussion, argument, experiment, selection and the security that comes from isolation.

Plenty of scope

There is, then, plenty of scope for direction of the game, tactical experiment, formation of ideas and a good grounding in soccer.

In attempting to improve the game as played by boys of 10 and 11 years old, it is easier to adopt a policy of judging by results, or in the parlance of the onlooker "It's goals that count".

It is possible to direct analysis and training along these lines.

For instance, though high shots can rarely succeed in the professional game, at Junior level, unless there are reduced goal measurements, such attempts nearly always score.

Again, the inability of most young defenders to head clear the long dropping ball gives a false value to this type of kick as a desirable practice in the game.

Goalkeepers, too, are seldom encouraged to advance from the goal line, whilst an attempt to pass backwards, whether in midfield or to the goalie, inevitably draws the query as to which team the boy is playing for.

Physical ability

From these few but authentic examples, it will be seen that simply playing to win and playing your best to win are not quite the same.

The junior boy, if he is to improve at all, should be made to realise that his physical weaknesses (kicking powerfully etc.) can become strengths if emphasis be placed upon an easier style of game.

Many of my colleagues feel that any pass, however accurate, is wasted effort unless it travels forward at least some 25 yards, itself some distance for a small or junior boy.

They also forget that the difference involved because of the size of pitch ipso facto lends value to a player with a big boot.

Thus in the junior school game the big kicking player is preferable from a match winning point of view, and the lad who strives to roll the ball accurately to a team mate, though he be in an open space, is not often appreciated, particularly if only once out of a dozen times the intended pass is intercepted or goes astray.

The boy who can dribble, too, comes in for well-meant critism, especially if he loses the ball near his own penalty area.

Indeed, any play which is not moving the ball rapidly towards the enemy goal is frowned upon and the offender possibly dropped from all forthcoming matches.

Far too often, teachers tend to think that learning at football is different from learning arithmetic because boys will always show more interest in the former.

Any improvement is sought through match discussion.

It is one thing to tell a boy how or when to do a thing; it is another thing for him to remember, and it is practically impossible to expect him to carry out such instruction some time later under the stress of an actual match.

Confidence lost

The boy usually loses his confidence if perpetually reminded that his shortcomings on the field are through forgetful disobedience or poor play.

He will not benefit greatly from a multitude of advice directed upon him during the game itself from each member of the school staff, for a boy takes whatever his teachers say as the only correct version possible.

Teachers, knowing this, always try conscientiously to obtain such truth as part of their preparation for any indoor lesson; they will hesitate to impart any knowledge they consider to be doubtful.

The fact that several of his team could have displayed their ability in a more attractive way scarcely enters into the end-of-game conversation.

There is no material reward for on-the-carpet football, clever as it may be, unless the goals are forthcoming, and this has led to some of the people in charge of school football falling back'on'physical soccer.

The simple truth that such a game produces easier chances to score has been overlooked, just as it has at some professional club levels.

Victorian News and Views

From L. K. STONE

George Cross had to fight all the way to defeat Geelong in a hectic encounter at Olympic Park last Saturday.

Geelong, with their defenders Gennari and Muir playing exceptionally well, offset the Maltese pace with steadiness and good positional play.

George Cross, not relishing the wet conditions, did not show their usual finesse and on the run of the play were lucky to emerge winners.

Lolly Vella (George Cross) was the first to score — a shot which hit Vavatier on the way into the net.

Soon after, Vanderberg was brought down by Sacco and Veres equalised from the penalty spot.

Clever play by Zammit and L. Vella resulted in another goal by the Maltese, Zammit administering the final touch.

In the second half, Geelong adopted more vigorous tactics and the hard-working Vanderberg equalised again to make the score two each.

Freak goal

Falzon gladdened the hearts of the George Cross supporters by scoring a somewhat freakish goal, which kept the Maltese in second place on the State League ladder.

Towards the closing stages, play became rather rough as Geelong battled to save the game.

Juhasz and State player Copeland, both of Geelong, had their names taken.

Hakoah recorded a 3—1 victory over Box Hill, but for a long time the Hillmen's hard bumping tactics worried the Blues.

Best man on the field was ex-Rapid star Hans Neuhold.

The brainy Austrian, who made a welcome comeback from the reserves, was instrumental in all three goals and delighted the rain-soaked Middle Park crowd.

He had a perfect understanding with his skipper, Syd Thomas, who also played well.

As usual, Angus Drennan, Box Hill's captain-coach, was the star of his side.

White, Box Hill right full back, received marching orders halfway through the second period, after the referee broke up a clash between a number of players.

Scorers for Hakoah were Meier, Pettersen and Reid, in that order.

The tireless Beggs never gave up trying and was rewarded by scoring Box Hill's only goal.

Wilhelmina, with Yntema back in the side after a controversial spell with a Sydney Federation club, were fortunate to win 2—1 against Slavia.

The Czechs showed remarkable tendencity and determination against Victoria's top side.

Goalies' error

It was a tragedy for Slavia that their excellent goalkeeper Borotjas, should make one of his rare mistakes by punching a harmless looking centre into his own net to give Wilhelmina their second goal.

Their first goal was scored by DeBrueyekere, after good work by Noy and Pronk.

Cook was credited with Slavia's goal.

Best for Wilhelmina were Pronk, Delgeorge and DeBrueyekere, and for Slavia Glennie, Bell and Armstrong.

Moreland with their pace and better position play truly outclassed lowly Yarra Park to the tune of 8—0.

Moreland's forward line functioned well on the greasy surface.

Hodgson, Moore and Laughran two each, and Oxton and Smith were the scorers.

Gallant Yarra Park keeper Vamakas was a busy man and despite being beaten eight times, made many fine saves.

Poor finish

Poor finishing robbed Polonia of a big score in their match against luckless Footscray which they won 3—0.

Polonia's imported players showed up well in mid-field with clever short passing, but failed as a scoring force.

Polonia's goals were scored by Drnia, Szygalski and Janczyk.

Wemyss played an excellent game for Footscray against his former colleagues.

Inconsistent Juventus played brilliant football to defeat JUST 4—0 at Olympic Park on Sunday before 6000 spectators.

Barbazza scored a hat-trick in the first half and midway through the second period, Cubero made it No 4 with a good shot from 20 yards out.

JUST included three imported players in their forward line, which did not click at any stage.

The Juventus half back line dominated the game and full backs Picinich and Marini were there to pick up the crumbs whenever necessary.

Best player in a mighty Juventus team was Tomblin, with Boz a close second.

JUST's only player worthy of praise was Rezuk at left back, who forced Juventus winger Breasson completely out of the game.

Juventus meet Hakoah at the Showground on Saturday and this match must be considered a big counter attraction to the Wilhelmina versus George Cross thriller at Olympic Park.

Both matches deserved an Olympic Park allocation.

Moreland are at home to Geelong and should win.

Box Hill oppose Slavia, which could be a drawn game as the Hillmen at home are hard to toss.

The meeting of woodenspooners Yarra Park and Footscray is anybody's game, as is the clash between Polonia and JUST.

ADAMSTOWN v BUDAPEST

Despite atrocious weather last Sunday a fairly good crowd attended the Cyril Nicholls-Col Newton Testimonial match, when Adamstown defeated attractive visitors Budapest from Sydney.

Nicholls and Newton, who have played with Adamstown for more than 10 years, played soundly.

Col Newton scored the third goal.

Budapest played delightful football throughout, but the extremely muddy conditions proved to be their downfall.

Their talented centre forward Galambos was well held by consistent centre half Bobby [illegible].

At halftime the scores were level at 1-all, goals being scored by Max Hamilton and L. Schauman.

The Budapest defence wilted in the second half, and Adamstown went on to a deserved 3—1 win, with goals from Robbie Dobbins and Col Newton.

tent enough to match North Side on Sunday.

Hakoah had flashes of brilliance against APIA and Burgoyne scored two great individual goals, but this was not enough to sway the game Hakoah's way.

Had Spiegel not been in such fantastic form the Blues would have been badly beaten at Lambert Park.

Tiny Alan Levinson was the best Hakoah player, with the ever-regular Jock Aird.

He is back to his devastating Metropolitan League form of a few years back.

The others forwards did some obscure work and Kearns showed promise, but this was not enough and I am afraid that Hakoah will lose more points.

I really think that NORTH SIDE UNITED will carry the day because it is more consistent.
